A Lust for Hard Work

Imagine demolishing city skyscrapers or an MCG stand in the name of a day's work. For Delta Group this is a typical day's work, with some impressive projects such as demolishing the Gas & Fuel Building, two temporary grandstands at Stadium Australia in Sydney as well as stripping out 16 levels at the Royal Brisbane Hospital, among other high profile projects.

With offices in each state of Australia, Delta Group is an industry leader specialising in large scale demolition and excavation work. Delta Group founder and managing director, Con Petropoulos, was looking to enhance his transport and logistic operations and approached Lusty EMS for an innovative solution. Mr Petropoulos wanted a tipper configuration with greater payload, whilst increasing productivity for in-house transport operations and external contract work. From all the tippers in the market, he chose a Lusty EMS Stag 19m B-double tipper configuration because the unique set up of the trailer achieves a high 38 tonne payload. As a bonus, the driver can tip both trailers without having to unhook- which translates into greatly reduced turn-around times, more drops per day and lower operating costs.

No time has been wasted, with Delta Group putting the Lusty EMS Stag B-double trailer straight to work with their civil, earthworks and recycling projects in Berrybank, Lang Lang and Koo Wee Rup.

Dominic Santullo, National Manager, Transport and Commercial Bin Hire, of Delta Group said, "We did a lot of research and this type of tipper configuration was the most economical option for our business. The beauty of the trailer is ultimately not having to unhook the front and back trailers which saves us time, 30 mins to unhook and rehook, therefore productivity increases by 1 or 2 loads per day on average. In my opinion, Lusty EMS has the whole package with quality, safety features and impeccable service."
